

ANNEX – ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON TA 101

Spearheaded by SCCCI and co-developed with Singapore Business Federation, the Growth Model and Competency Framework for the TAC sector was launched in January 2022. TA 101 took reference from the Competency Framework and is aligned with SkillsFuture Singapore's Skills Framework. With the support of SSG, SCCCI and NYP collaborated to develop the TA 101.

The course seeks to actively develop TAC professionals by equipping them with the necessary knowledge, skills and abilities to execute the various Industry Transformation Maps and industry development initiatives of the TACs. In addition, the course is also designed to attract mid-career professionals who are interested to join the TAC sector by imparting them with the relevant essential skill sets and knowledge.

The course curriculum follows closely the seven functional tracks as identified from the Competency Framework. It provides essential knowledge and practical tools to allow participants to gain a deeper understanding and appreciation of the TAC landscape and build competencies that they need to effectively perform the critical work functions within the TAC sector.

The 5-day training course comprises of interactive classroom training, workshops, field trips and sharing sessions anchored by senior government officers and leading industry leaders. There are valuable opportunities embedded in the course for participants to interact first-hand with relevant stakeholders to broaden their perspectives and network.

SCCCI will continue to work with NYP to develop two brand-new courses that are unique to the TAC sector, namely, industry advocacy and industry research. Please refer to the enclosed link to access details of the TA 101 course:
