Sector Overview

Logistics is a key pillar contributing close to 7% of Singapore's GDP and remains a critical growth area for the years to come. The World Bank ranked Singapore as the No. 1 Logistics Hub in Asia in the 2014 Logistics Performance Index.

Singapore
No. 1
Logistic Hub
2014

Singapore's strategic location in the heart of Southeast Asia and at the nexus of major shipping lanes has made it an important logistics hub and conduit for world trade.

Today, Singapore is a prime location for major logistics firms, with 20 of the top 25 global logistics players conducting operations here. With an expansive base of leading global logistics players, world-class infrastructure and excellent global connectivity, Singapore is the preferred logistics and supply chain management hub for companies.
